Book Orders

Book orders were sent home last Thursday in Take Home Folders. They are a great way to add books to a home library especially if you look for the books on special. You may still order online through Friday. I will submit the order over the weekend. I will send book order packets out about once a month.

Snacks

Every morning we try to have a time that students can eat a snack that they bring from home. It is optional but some students really need something to help them make it to lunch.

Classroom Wish List

Thank you for the candy! Nothing else is needed right now.

Conferences

Please call the office if you need to get on the schedule.

Intervention

This week we started intervention classes. This is where kids go to different classes and learn things.
